Description :

PDF-4b8b1 | During the 1930s, the Federal Writers' Project undertook the task of locating former slaves and recording their oral histories. The more than ten thousand pages of interviews with over two thousand former slaves were filed in the Library of Congress, where they were known to scholars and historians but few others. From this storehouse of information, Belinda Hurmence has chosen twenty-seven narr... Before Freedom, When I Just Can Remember: Personal Accounts of Slavery in South Carolina
